

MAC-248 : Production Procedures

Credits 2

Lab 2

Lecture 1

Clinical/WkExp 0

Session Cycle

Spring Only

Description

This course covers product planning and control and scheduling and routing of operations. Topics include cost-effective production methods, dimensional and statistical quality control, and the tooling and machines required for production. Upon completion, students should be able to plan, set up, and produce cost-effective quality machined parts.